

Leading analytical water testing services you can trust

Eclipse Scientific Group is one of the UK's leading providers of water testing services, having been established over 40 years ago as the laboratory services provider to a statutory water supply company. Acquired by Inspicio in 2006, Eclipse Scientific Group offers a range of high quality analytical testing services across the UK and Ireland through our UKAS or INAB accredited laboratories.

As one of five key business divisions within Eclipse Scientific Group, we continually focus on improving our outstanding service levels to ensure our customers receive the service they expect and deserve.

Leading Provider

With extensive experience, Eclipse Scientific Group offers a comprehensive range of accredited water testing services from our modern, well-equipped laboratories. We carry out tests on all types of water across a broad range of industries - including raw, potable, recreational, process and waste - ensuring that the required UK or EU regulations are met.

With results available in hard copy, electronic format or by accessing our secure online results portal, we take great care to ensure that our customers' needs are met in full, whatever their requirements.

Excellent Geographical Coverage

With fully equipped UKAS or INAB accredited laboratories strategically located across the UK and Ireland and a fleet of over 40 refrigerated collection vans, Eclipse Scientific Group seamlessly manages nationwide contracts for customers of all sizes. Tests can be carried out on the day of sample collection with results reported as soon as the analysis is complete.

Each van utilises the 'Green Road' code of practice, and with temperature data logging on board we can ensure that all samples arrive for testing in excellent condition.

Industry Experts

All our laboratories are UKAS or INAB accredited, and our qualified staff carry out over a million tests every year. Our unrivalled industry experience and knowledge of the tests required for UK or EU regulatory compliance ensures that our customers can have complete confidence in the integrity of their results.

Broad Industry Coverage

With a comprehensive range of accredited tests, Eclipse Scientific Group can satisfy a wide variety of demands from many industries. The knowledge and information gained from working across these sectors further enhances our high levels of technical ability, ensuring all customers can be kept up to date with the latest developments in the testing world.

A Testing Partner You Can Trust

With over 40 years experience in analytical water testing, more than 93% of our revenue derives from long-term relationships. Our customers receive excellent service from our strategically located laboratories and, as a result of our UKAS accreditations and extensive knowledge, can have absolute confidence in the test results they receive.

We currently work with customers in the following sectors:

- Building: Providing varied checks and assessments including legionella testing in cooling towers, swimming pool quality and drinking water quality.
- Food: Undertaking a variety of tests to check the suitability of water for use in catering production processes as well as examining the quality of bottled drinking water.
- Industrial environment: Assessing the quality of industrial effluents and process waters from a range of industrial activities including boiler feed water and licensed discharges to controlled waters.
- Natural environment: Checking the quality of waters to assess or identify bathing water quality and river pollution amongst others.
- Pharmaceutical: Bespoke tests carried out at our purpose built pharmaceutical laboratory. For more information please visit www.eclipsescientific.co.uk/pharmaceuticaltesting.
